LOCAL JOTS.
The D. & R. G. sent out two crowded sleepers to-day.

All trains on the D. & R. G. are running on time again.
Stormont stock is quoted at 10c and Horn Silver at $1.85, silver sixty days.

"When this cruel peace is over," Song and dance, by Bull and Bear. To be had at all the music stores out of town.
In another column will be found the advertisement of G. Mullett & Co., the agents for the celebrated Dunlap Hats.

Alvin Fletcher has been appointed deputy registrar of Providence precinct, in the place of Henry Fletcher, who has resigned.
Slov is no name for it. The stereotyped reply to the question "Anything new?" is "Not a thing." Bury the corpse and be done with it.

Two more passenger conductors on the Utah & Northern, have been let out through "spotters." Not one of the old conductors can now be seen on the north end of the line.
A little daughter of Mr. Geo. Romney was severely injured by a vicious cow yesterday, but she is resting easy to-day and it is thought will be all right in the course of time.

In the News of last evening Mr. Angus M. Cannon gives an autobiography of himself, which is quite interesting. Next week he will furnish the News with pictures of prominent politicians.
The attendance at the Skating Pavilion last night to see Miss Annie Sylvester, Queen of the Wheel, was slim. Miss Sylvester is an accomplished rider, but "bicycling" is not the attraction in Salt Lake that it once was, hence the meagre attendance.

Campbell, the colored thief who forcibly removed a trunk from the house of Mr. Taylor, is reported to be still in town. Several persons claim to have seen him in the past few days. If that be the case, how is it that the police can not nab him?

The teachers and pupils of the Camp Mission school give a social entertainment to the friends and patrons of the school this evening. It will be held in the Camp Mission schoolhouse, situated on Fourth West, between First and Second South streets. Time, 8 o'clock.
For sale cheap: Several maps of the war in Africa and Central Asia, which show where the war is not to be. Special telegrams this afternoon from the military inform us that all is peace on earth and good will toward men. Hence the offer for sale of our war maps.

"MILLIONS IN IT!"

A Discovery Which Promises to Revolutionize the Mining Industry.

Veins of Gold and Silver to be Tapped By the Electric Indicator.

The Good Times Coming and Gold Mines For Everybody.

Yesterday we were shown an engraving of a remarkable machine which works wholly by electricity for indicating and locating deposits of minerals that exist beneath the earth within one hundred feet from the surface. It is known as the "Electric Mine Indicator," and is held by three letters patent issued to the inventor in the United States, the latest being dated December 9, 1904, and one letter patent issued for Canada, Nov. 7, 1904.
If the indicator will be one-half what its inventor claims, it is sure to work a wonderful revolution in mining and prospecting for minerals of all kinds, and the great savings in labor and money, heretofore expended both in searching for and opening up deposits of minerals, will be immense.
The inventor claims that his invention will demonstrate the presence of a vein of ore even 100 feet below the surface, as the ground current can be located with complete accuracy, because it will extend to the surface to the exact width of the vein below.
Dr. C. B. Hayward, of New York City, who is one of the directors of the company, will arrive here with one of these machines the latter part of this month, and will be a guest of Col. R. M. Froese. While he is in Utah, mine owners and prospectors will be afforded an opportunity of testing this most wonderful invention.

American genius is proverbial the world over, and from time to time the Yankee whittled out wooden nutmegs and sold them for the genuine aromatic article, American genius has kept on growing and improving. American genius has given to the world some of the greatest discoveries and inventions; it has, so to speak, heaped benefactions upon a wide and suffering circle of humanity, and with a mouth full of just pride and tobacco juice every American citizen can point to the screeching eagle and proudly declare that the noble bird is not only the representative of freedom, but that she is also the fertile mother of invention. From hard cider to the Yankee invention of the festive cocktail, calculated to lay out an ordinary citizen before breakfast, was a rapid stride in civilizing agencies; from the box-car of the English railroad to Pullman Palace rolling stock was another step that knocked the Britishers silly, and as a crowning triumph of inventive genius, now comes Dr. C. B. Hayward, of New York City, with a patent electric mine indicator which threatens to turn the country topsy-turvy and send our mining population crazy.

Edison has given the results of his experiments and experience in the electric world to the great public, but his inventions are in the nature of luxuries and curiosities, and while the great public has awaited his need of praise, and while envious inventors have plagiarized what have not been the results which the great untapped masses have hungered for. What the people of the country want, what they have long yearned for, is some way to MAKE MONEY WITHOUT WORKING FOR IT.

A relief bill from the A-dam crew passed by the Supreme Legislature in the Parliament of Eden, and against which the sewing girls, street-car drivers and the poverty-stricken prospector have had to toil against. Editors and such officials as the Utah Commissioners have no reason to complain, but then we always feel like taking the side of the weak and downtrodden.

POVERTY IS STALKING BARREFOOT.
Throughout the Territory, our best citizens actually prefer to go to the penitentiary in preference to living in such a cruel, heartless world, and we are going to do our little to stop this kind of a procession if we can.

What Utah wants and what Utah doesn't want have been told to the world for the last twenty years. The Mormons want to be let alone and want to have more wives, the Gentiles want the Mormons expelled and want the United States to do it, and a further list of "wants" may be found at any intelligence office. What the people of Utah "don't want" are equally numerous. They don't want Congress or Cleveland to "imagine" that the "Protest and Declaration of Grievances" was formulated and adopted by anybody else than members of the two per cent, they "don't want" the President to think that Judge Zane is at the right hand in the right place, they "don't want" the people of the United States to think that any special legislation except the strict and rigid enforcement of the laws is necessary to settle the Mormon question. But we digress.

THE ONE GREAT PRESSING WANT.
The individual want of the people of Utah is undoubtedly—filthy lucre, and we feel like crying "Eureka!" for the discovery—anyway, Dr. C. B. Hayward has discovered the remedy. Bring forth the chapter and place it on the D. & R. G., and also give him the cake. The electric indicator is coming—it may even now be on the road—and the people of Utah individually and collectively feel happy and wealthy. Let it come, it is the universal sentiment, and the voice of the people is the voice of God. Troit out.

THE DOCTOR'S WHEEL OF FORTUNE.
Where there are all prizes and no blanks. In the near future we see Utah revolutionized; with prophetic vision we behold the mountains of Zion tapped by the electric indicator and made to disclose the secrets of ten times ten thousand years; and with the wisdom of the seer we may foretell the

HAPPINESS AND PROSPERITY TO THE PEOPLE.
That such a golden era will most assuredly bring. The horny-handed prospector who yesterday on beans and bacon feed will be a millionaire by the rising sun of the morrow; the treasures of mother earth will be wrested from her selfish grasp, and she may not say us nay—every corner lot will be occupied by a banking house, and our numerous nabobs will be the talk and envy of the entire world; the honest miner shall no more delve for lost and hidden veins; no more shall the waste rock be drilled and doubly blasted for the gold and silver that isn't there. The honest miner shall not now sweat and toil and cuss in vain. Science the Grand God, the alleviator of all human wants, stands by his side and

LURES HIM ON TO FORTUNE.
The great electric indicator is his, and he desires no more. Watch him as he plants it on the crooked legs and sees the needle spin. Ye gods! Fifty feet below the surface is a vein of free gold, six feet between the hanging and foot walls. It must be so—You may lie, Jacob McCloskey, but the indicator can't lie! The dream of his life is accomplished. He has either struck a ground current or a streak of pyrites, and he will die happy in the thought that there is a gold mine somewhere in the district.

The DEMOCRAT welcomes Dr. Hayward to Utah; it appreciates the philanthropy which induces him to let the Utah people have the first "lick" at his valuable invention, and is willing to accord him all the honor and glory which shall be the fruits of his labors.

UTAH MAY YET BE THE UTOPIA.
We have dreamed of; her streams of gold and silver may yet pay the national debt, buy Statehood for Utah, and bring the nations of the world weeping to her feet, and it will all be owing to the gold and silver indicator. No colored Sellers is required to see "there's millions in it."

"Bring forth the royal indicator, and crown it lord of all!"
The Tramp Nuisance.
In various of the lower parts of the city there have been seen roaming about certain unsavory "gentlemen of leisure," who, judging from their actions, were only awaiting an opportunity to accomplish whatever mischief might fall in their way. In quite a few places sundry little articles have been missed from about the yards and outhouses, the disappearance of which can only be accounted for by reference to the aforesaid "gentlemen" with more time on their hands than anything else. Another habit of the professional tramp has been exhibited, namely that of going to a house, and if there were any money folks about, asking for something to do in order to earn a meal, but if it is found that the coast is clear, and there is no one but women about, a demand is made for old clothes, or something of the kind, such demands being made in such a manner as to leave a timid woman with but little choice in the matter. This has occurred two or three times lately, and it is about time something was being done to put a stop to this thing. These pests to society came near making life unbearable to people living in the outskirts of town last year, and if not restrained will do the same thing again this summer. They came in on the trains from various directions, and, eluding the vigilance of the depot officers, spread out over the thinly populated portions of the city, where they can have things about their own way. About the only thing that can be done is to use a club or shot gun on a few of them when they begin to make themselves "unpleasant" about the place. If these or some other stern measures were adopted with them, Salt Lake would soon get the name amongst the profession of being "bad medicine," and we should be to a great extent freed from the nuisance.

Court Notes.
The case of the People vs. H. C. Clemens, charged with shooting a Chinaman, was called in the District Court this morning, but Clemens not being forthcoming, the usual call requiring the bondsmen to produce him was made, and there being no response, his bonds were declared forfeited, and the case was dismissed.
The taking of testimony in the case of Charles Neilson, charged with manslaughter, occupied the attention of the court during the morning session. District Attorney Dickson entered quite extensively into architectural plans in order to get at the amount of knowledge possessed by one of the witnesses in this case. The position of a pool table and a cue rack was a matter of considerable importance in the case this morning.
Neilson was placed in the witness box and subjected to a severe cross-examination with a view to ascertain the connection of events relating to the quarrel between himself and Gardner.
The jury also took a lesson in architecture, occupying some little time in examining a plan of the building on the State Road.
In the case of the People vs. Hannah Brightmore, an appeal from the Justice of the Peace's court of Tooele was asked and allowed.

The Cariboo Gold Leads.
Mr. Hiram House, an old resident of Corinne, and for many years past interested in the Cariboo Mining District, Idaho, about forty miles north of Soda Springs, is in the city to secure some reduction facilities on a small scale. He quizzes the placers of Cariboo, he thinks his board leads are worthy of attention, the ore being low grade, but free milling, and carrying considerable gold. The Cariboo country will make some millionaires yet, and we hope Hiram may be the first one.

New Band Uniform.
The fine new uniform which the Firemen's Band has been so long expecting, has at last arrived. It is a daisy, and the boys are jubilant over the appearance they will present when arrayed in their new colors. The suit is navy blue—pants, coat and cap of the same color. The pants, red braided trimmings on the coat, and a red band around the cap.

A Stock Paradise.
The Bear River country as a stock growing region is attracting a great deal of attention all over the western country. If one-half that is said of it be true, it may be a veritable bovine paradise. The Greeley, Salt Lake and Pacific Railway company should push its line into that country and secure the trade before some other road gets in ahead of them.—Denver News.

Froese's New Map of Utah.
To My Patrons and the Public:
My new official map of Utah, with the latest published surveys, showing the railroads, mining districts, counties, etc., will be ready on or about June 1st, 1908. The great amount of new matter which this map will contain, has unavoidably delayed its earlier appearance, but the delay will be the gain of my patrons and the public, whom I can assure will have a map complete in every particular. For a general reference and school purposes it will have no superior. I therefore ask School Trustees and business men desiring a reliable and correct map to await its publication, and not purchase any inferior article placed upon the market in the meantime. Very respectfully,
B. A. M. FROESE,
Pioneer Map Publisher,
SALT LAKE CITY, Utah, April 4, 1908.

The "Sideboard."
B. Sprenger's new saloon, next to McKinnin's livery stable, has been christened the "Sideboard." It has been elegantly fitted up in a new departure in Salt Lake, in the manner of its arrangements. Nothing but the very best of wines, liquors and cigars will be kept, and the resort will be strictly first class. Mr. Sprenger is well known in Salt Lake, and cordially invites his friends to call at the "Sideboard."

For A First-Class Lunch.
Call at the Fountain Lunch Stand, old London Bank Building. Hot Lunch from 11 a. m. to 3 p. m. The neatest place in town.

THE GOLD BAR RACKET.

Once Worked in Salt Lake, It Again Comes to the Front in Arizona.

It will be remembered that about two months ago the telegraph contained an account that a bar of gold bullion was stolen from the office of the St. Helena Gold Mining Company at Las Delicias, Sonora, by J. W. Smith, confidential messenger of the company. The bar was valued at $13,000. A reward was offered for the arrest of Smith, but he was never found. The theft of the bullion suggested to some of the enterprising minds of Arizona a way to turn an honest penny. The Tucson Tailings thus narrates the story: "A few days ago an engineer and a conductor on the Sonora Railroad went to Louis and M. Goldbaum, who keep a saloon at Benson, and offered to conduct them to the man who had the bar, saying that he would sell it for $1,000. The Goldbaum Bros. thought this too good a thing to let slip; so scrapping the amount together, in case and equivalents, they accompanied the railroad men to a spot in the mountains near Benson, where they duly received the coveted bar, in return for the $1,000. Coming up to Tucson they chopped the bar into small pieces, which they forwarded to various points for assay and sale, and sat down to await their assays and returns. The returns soon came, in the shape of uniform reports, to the effect that the metal was worthless. To say that the purchasers were mad is to put the matter very mildly. The worst of it is that they dare say nothing about it."

What the Intention Was.
The Tribune this morning has the following:
We copy the following from the Salt Lake Democrat:
However much one may differ from Mr. Pratt in his practices, yet it must be acknowledged that he was no craven cur when brought face to face with the law.

Does the DEMOCRAT mean by the foregoing that when Mr. Arnold, arraigned the same way, frankly stated that henceforth he would obey the law, he was a "craven cur"? If not, what sense is there in the foregoing? And does the model paper mean to advertise to this community that, in its judgment, for a prisoner at the bar to refuse to promise to live within the law in future is an act or sign of heroism?

If the Tribune is not too aged or too wise to learn, it can look over the files of the DEMOCRAT to find out our position on the case of Mr. Arnold. This reference to Mr. Arnold by the Tribune looks like an attempt to twist language. We would have preferred that Mr. Pratt followed the example of Mr. Arnold, but we please say that Mr. Pratt was no craven, and although he had broken the laws of his country, yet he did not wince when punishment came for that violation. We do not favor a violation of the laws, nor do we favor a violation of language.

Getting in Practice.
Washington square, in the Eighth ward, is thronged every evening with ambitious knights of the "wheel." A number of experts are in training even at this early date for the coming races during the summer. It is rumored that there are several dark horses who will make the champions wince to retain their laurels. One of the interesting topics of conversation is the relative merits of the "Columbia" and the "Pony Star," and the difference between them regarding speed, safety, etc., and it is hotly discussed by the friends of both machines. A number of interesting races under the auspices of the Bicycle Club are being arranged. Everything goes to show that the "wheel" has come to stay.

Van Dusen in Nevada.
The Pioche Record of Saturday says: Last week we chronicled the arrival in Bullionville of a Mr. Van Dusen, of Salt Lake City. The gentleman is a prominent mining engineer of Utah, being also the party that sold the celebrated Telemeter mine at Bingham Canyon for $3,000,000 in England. Mr. Van Dusen has been making practical teaching tests of the roasted tailings at Bullionville during the week. Mr. Goode having put men and leaching tanks at his disposal, and we understand the results are very satisfactory.

G. A. R.
At a meeting of the Ladies' Relief Corps yesterday afternoon, a committee of seven ladies was appointed to meet the Committee on Arrangement of the James B. McKean Post for the purpose of arranging a programme of exercises and appointing sub-committees. To-morrow the ladies will be in the business meeting of the committees for the purpose of getting things in shape. The business meeting will occupy the early part of the evening, after which a social entertainment under the auspices of the Relief Corps will be indulged in. A very pleasant time is anticipated.

Police Court Items.
John Hays, who indulged in a general drunk and wound up by stealing some beer bottles, came up and explained himself. He was let off on depositing $15 and making a promise of future good behavior.
The case of Jesse James and Ellen Wallace, the colored people who were charged with battering a white woman, came up, but owing to the absence of certain witnesses the case was continued until 10 o'clock to-morrow.
